Figure 1 is a screenshot of a software interface for defining conditions. The interface includes tabs for "Details", "Conditions", and "Actions". The "Conditions" tab is active, showing a "Save Condition List as Template" button. Below this, there are input fields for "Name" and "Description", and a "Template Preview" area. The "Template Preview" area displays a condition: "If country contains <<parameter_country>> or country contains <<parameter_country>>". The interface also features a table with columns for "Match", "Attribute", "Operator", "Value", and "Case". The table contains several rows of data, including "Any", "Or", and "United States".
